

Commissioning

PARC Engineering provide complete commissioning solutions to manage and execute the commissioning scope of construction projects.

We ensure that all processes from the initial phase of commissioning, planning and development through to the final site acceptance and client handover are undertaken in a professional and efficient manner to meet our client's requirements.

People

PARC Engineering's management has extensive experience in the commissioning of large scale energy and resource projects and a demonstrated ability to effectively source, manage and mobilise commissioning teams. Depending on a project's scope, we can also supply specialist commissioning professionals to join and enhance a client's project team.
